Chairman Statement

MACRO ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT

Global

The Global economy has witnessed a progressive recovery from the 2008 lingering recession, characterized by stalled economic growth, low output levels, huge budget deficits, debt crisis, weak financial systems, and high unemployment. According to the International Monetary Fund "IMF" the global economy is expected to grow at a rate of 3.3% in 2013 and 4% in 2014, a marginal increase compared to 3.2% in 2012. However, the growth is been driven by increased economic activities in the Emerging markets, such as the Asia and Africa regions, which have become a haven of investment opportunities with very attractive returns for multinationals and private equity firms. Economic outlook continues to remain stable in the United States with GDP growth rate for first quarter of 2013 at 2.40% compared with the 0.4% in the previous quarter. Though the country's rising external debt continues to pose a major threat to this trend. China has experienced a slowdown in its economy measured by the growth in Gross Domestic Product, which stood at 7.7% in March 2013 as a result of declining demand from its strongest trade partners-the Euro zone members. The Euro zone continues to struggle to record significant growth, due to the protracted debt crisis of some of its members, despite the stimulus plans implemented by Economic Central bank (ECB). GDP growth rate year on year recorded for first quarter 2013 was at -1.10% compared to -1.0% in the corresponding quarter in 2012. African economies continue to trend on a positive note, with the recovery of its equity market recouping the largest gains in the world in 2012-Egypt 49.5%, Kenya 39.2% and Nigeria 35.5%. The global economy will continue to trend positively, with sustained growth in emerging markets supported by favourable monetary and fiscal policies.

Nigerian Economy

The period under review saw the Nigerian Economy making impressive recovery from the financial crisis which plagued the global market from the start of 2008. This growth is been driven by contributions from the non oil sectors as a result of business expansions supported by rising demand- Agriculture, Wholesale & retail and Services. The Nigerian Bureau of Statistics reports that the Real Gross Domestic Product, a measure of the economic growth, rose up to 6.56 per cent in the first quarter of 2013 compared to 6.34 per cent in the corresponding quarter of 2012, partly as a result of growth in some of non-oil sectors. The Central Bank of Nigeria through its monetary policies and other regulatory activities has been able to ensure price stability, control inflation and increase lending facilities to boost economic development and encourage both private and foreign investments. The economy has been able to sustain a single digit inflation rate consecutively for three months in a row, with Headline inflation rate year on year at 9%, 9.5%, 8.6%, 9.1% and 9% for the first five months of 2013 compared to an average of 12% in the corresponding period for 2012. The nation's external reserves have been on a steady rise since the start of 2012, standing at US$49.49 billion as at mid May, 2013, representing an increase of US$4.6billion (10.63%) over US$43.83billion reached at the end of December, 2012.

The ongoing reforms in the power sector is expected to encourage private sector investment, provide stable and efficient power supply which would further boost to a large extent economic activities, reduce unemployment and ultimately GDP growth. There was a successful bidding for power assets in 2012, a significant move in the right direction even though power generation has remained largely the same at 4,000MW. The Federal Government also continues to ensure that the current security situation facing the country is appropriately handled without disrupting economic developments and FDIs. With these reforms and other monetary and fiscal policies strategically executed, the economy is expected to continue on a positive trend over the years, positioning Nigeria as one of the 20 leading economies in the world, with a fast growing financial system along with other emerging markets by 2020. In addition the deregulation of the Petroleum sector , to be facilitated by the passage of the Petroleum Industry bill (PIB) is expected to further boost supply, competition and transparency in the industry.

The Nigerian Capital Market experienced a recovery in 2012 as the NSE ASI (Nigerian Stock Exchange All Share Index) outperformed most global indices with a 32% return YTD. The All Share Index is one of the best performing frontier markets with returns (inclusive of dividends) of over 40%. However, the market is still about 50% shy of the 2008 peak making the Nigerian market one of those yet to recover globally. However, steps being taken by regulators may be an indication of a recovery in the offing. Some steps taken by regulators include the introduction of market making, proposed forbearance packages for the stock brokers and introduction of custodians in the market. Performance of key organizations in the previous year was positive and Nigerian bonds were included in the JP Morgan index. Generally, it is expected that there will be an improvement in the Nigerian investment horizon in 2013.

The robust economic growth trend is expected to continue, which will be largely driven by activities in the non-oil sector and supported by the impact of the sector reforms. Given moderating inflationary pressure, exchange rate stability and the much expected gradual easing in the monetary policy environment, interest rate and yield on fixed income instruments are expected to compress further in the short to medium term. However, depressed oil production as a result of growing incidence of oil theft activities in the Niger-Delta and lingering security challenge pose a downside risk to economic growth.

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Housing finance plays a major part for individuals and households to own their homes, despite the size of the Nigerian economy. Mortgage debt to GDP is about 0.4 % only about 5 % of the 13.7 million housing units in Nigeria currently financed with a mortgage.

Significant proportion of the population in the Nigeria can be classified as sub-prime for lending purposes, earning below N1500 OR$ 10 per day. In addition to this high subprime market base, the country's housing markets are also characterized by lack of depth of the mortgage market, especially in the area of lack of credit information systems and low levels of legal rights for lenders.

The Bank has a very clear vision to be the national leader in mortgages and a leading financial service provider. In achieving this we aim to build a great place for our customers to do business; a great place for our people to work; and to generate good returns for our shareholders.

We also acknowledge the role that we at ITMB must play in that process. We can only earn that trust by addressing the fundamentals, for all our stakeholders, and by being open, transparent and engaged in the broader debate about the role of Mortgages and real estate in Nigeria.

We need to demonstrate that we are meeting our obligations to customers and society by proactively – and responsibly – channeling the deposits we gather into productive enterprises and households.

The financial industry has a central role in promoting and fuelling the economic recovery. We will continue to play our part in supporting Nigeria's growth by extending a significant amount of new lending to businesses and households. We have so far originated mortgages for over 2,000 customers.

INDUSTRY REGULATION

The level of industry regulation and its speed of change have never been greater. A number of strategic initiatives and regulatory reforms from CBN are likely to change the shape of our industry. Robust and stable regulation will be an important component in rebuilding confidence and trust and creating a healthy and sound financial system. However, we need to ensure that we fulfill our core purpose in delivering a smooth flow of credit to the economy. This means meeting our obligations to businesses, by helping individuals to invest, up-skill our workforce, focus on our customers and stakeholders.

We intend to remain committed and focused on our business model and are committed to meeting our responsibilities to stakeholders, customers, employee, government, regulators and society in general.

CRITICAL SUCCESS FACTORS

3. Strong Branch Network: Availability and Accessibility to the banks infrastructure will enhance proximity to service offerings and brand reach.

4. Competent personnel: Skilled and experienced workforce is important to the growth and performance of the bank.

5. Excellent Customer Relationship Management: Outstanding service delivery is very essential to ensuring better customer satisfaction, retain and grow customer base, improve brand equity which will trickle down to stronger financial performance.

RISK ANALYSIS

Political Risk

Nigeria used to rank probably among the most volatile and unstable countries in the sub-Sahara Africa. But this has gradually given way to a more stable nation since the return to civil rule in 1999. This continued unabatedly till 2003 when a milestone was recorded with the successful transition from one civilian government to another. This seemingly stable polity is beginning to create confidence in the minds of foreign investors to invest more in Nigeria that has the market and then potential for transformation. This stable trend is expected to continue and sustain the thriving momentum witnessed in the financial sector and overall market.

Macroeconomic risk

Macroeconomic condition is influenced by the various monetary and fiscal policies put in place by the government and its agencies to control inflation and stabilize prices, for the purpose of enhancing economic growth and improving standard of living of the populace. Recent infrastructural programs, sector reforms and other fiscal and monetary measures put in place of the Federal Government and other regulatory agencies is expected to continue to boost economic activities ,strengthen investment horizon in the Nigerian system, as well as drive foreign direct investment. This trend is expected to be maintained to the foreseeable future.

Sector risk

The banking sector is one of the most developed industries in Nigeria, which is positioned to driving economic expansion through quality credit facilities to government and corporate. The mortgage banking subsector is strategically positioned to support the huge demand deficit in housing infrastructure, driven by the rising population, urbanization and better income levels. Although, performance in this sector correlates with the level of activities in the macroeconomic environment as well as government fiscal policies.

Historical Financial Performance

FIVE YEAR FINANCIAL SUMMARY

Our approach is to reinforce our position in by growing the Bank significantly across key metrics, i.e. scale, profitability and market share and harnessing inherent opportunities available in the sector. The Bank has continued to be ahead of our competitors despite the harsh economic environment in our country.

Operating Financial Result 2012

With the industry just recovering marginally from the lull in the preceding year largely characterized by substantial loan loss provisioning, we have posted better-than-anticipated full year figures for the financial year end 31st December, 2011. The results reflect a robust improvement upon the previous performance and the indicators are well above those posted by our peers.

In 2012, the bank achieved an emphatic growth in profitability compared to the previous year. Profit before taxation (PBT) of N565.6 m and Profit after taxation (PAT) of N517.m. Gross earnings increased from N459.5m in 2011 to N850.5m translating to an improvement of 180% year-on-year (y-o-y). Earnings per share increased from 6k to 15k .while Dividend per share rose from 0.57k to 2.71k representing year-on-year improvement of 225% and 171% respectively.

However at 57.0% cost-to-income ratio, and Return on shareholders' funds at 8.88%, ITMB still faces operating efficiency challenges to overcome.

Future Plans

Our approach to governance is predicated on the belief that there is a link between high quality governance and the creation of shareholder value. The abolition of Universal Banking model supports our specialization within the mortgage space and allows for true leadership. The Central Bank of Nigeria has successfully implemented policies and reforms within the Commercial banking

In line with the CBN reform on the Mortgage banking which stipulate that Mortgage Banks with state license must have capital N2.5B and for National License N 5B by December 2013. We intend to have a national license in line with our vision statement "To be the reference point in all spheres of mortgage business through the usage of time - tested professionals, the best in technology and adequate capital in creating wealth for all stakeholders - customer, staff, shareholders and the community at large". We are very confident to meet the minimum capital requirement for a National License hence to become a National Mortgage Bank. We have various options and strategies to achieve this goal and these options have positive outlook. We intend to follow an organic growth pattern which has been our strategy since inception; is to have more presence in many other cities in Nigeria. However we will still look and exploit other options of acquisitions, if these acquisitions will add value and create a better synergy with our business model and corporate culture

Our branch in Lagos situated in ilupeju Bye Pass will commence business before the end of third quarter, 2013. We have the Central Bank of Nigeria(CBN) approval to open 2 branches in Kubwa and Lugbe in Abuja.

The CBN released the draft operating guidelines for the Mortgage Refinance Company (MRC) in March 2013. We are well positioned to optimize the opportunities that will emerge when the MRC eventually takes off.

We will list our company on the Nigerian Stock Exchange by Introduction. Listing by Introduction is the listing of securities already widely held. A company's shares are "introduced" to the market by offering a percentage of its share capital for public float through a stockbroker, having complied with the Exchange's Listing Requirements. This will give us the impetus to have a wider shareholder base, access the capital market for additional capital when necessary. In addition, we will embark on capital raising through debt and equity instruments to grow our business.

Finally, we will continue to work with our foreign partners, and other international fund managers to raise funds for real estate development and mortgages.

Conclusion

Over the years the Bank has been ran professionally and profitably. ITMB has consistently paid dividend to shareholders for eight consecutive years; this is by all means a laudable achievement considering the harsh economic environment

Over time our focus in our long term objective is to remain the national leader in mortgage Banking sector and the dominant driver for actualization of the Government's national housing vision. We will continue to entrench ourselves across cities of the Federation; provide exceptional services and outreach to our customers thereby commanding profitable and dominant market share. Our goal is to stay focused on the mortgage business as we anchor our strength to stimulate the growth of the secondary market, and further deepen the mortgage industry in Nigeria.
